

Supports Available For Gender Diverse Survivors.

WAWAW Rape Crisis Centre is a feminist, anti-violence organization in Vancouver, BC. We are situated on the unceded territories of the Musqueam, Squamish, and Tsleil-Waututh peoples.

We serve survivors of all marginalized genders, including trans and cis women as well as all Two Spirit, trans, and nonbinary people.

For Survivors

WAWAW offers specialized support services for gender diverse survivors.

~ 24-hour Crisis and Information Line

~ 24-hour Hospital Accompaniment

~ WAWAW Connect: Crisis text and chat support

~ Specialized one-to-one and group counselling for Indigenous and trans survivors

~ Specialized support for Indigenous and trans survivors accessing the medical and legal system

All of our services are free, and trans and Indigenous survivors are invited to access either our specialized services or our general services. Survivors will not be asked for their legal name or gender when accessing WAWAW.

For Service Providers

Safe Choices

These workshops aim to increase service providers' knowledge and confidence in supporting LGBTQ2S+ folks who may be experiencing relationship violence and abuse.

Healthy Relationships Workshops

Developed for, and facilitated by, the LGBTQ2S+ community and offered in partnership with community organizations. These workshops focus on community building to prevent relationship violence and abuse.

Supporting Trans Survivors

This workshop for service providers goes beyond the basics to explore the context of trans experiences of sexual violence. It touches on gendered spaces and what we've learned in community consultation, and it uses case studies to look at violence through an interpersonal, community, and systemic lens

Support and consultation is available to make your organization more inclusive - please get in touch!
